

WHS POLICY

The health and safety of people is of the highest priority of RMP and will not be compromised.

RMP will:

- protect the health, safety and wellbeing of all employees, sub-contractors and visitors
- strive to continuously improve our health and safety performance
- strive to eliminate workplace injuries and illnesses
- comply with WHS Act 2011, WHS regulations, standards, codes of practice and other requirements applicable to the organisation.

To deliver on these commitments RMP will:

- establish and pursue health and safety objectives and targets
- identify and manage health and safety risks in our workplaces
- communicate and consult with workers in relation to workplace health and safety
- engage with employees, sub-contractors and suppliers in creating safe and healthy workplaces
- provide all necessary health and safety information, training, education and inductions for RMP workers, sub-contractors and visitors
- provide RMP workers all necessary facilities, equipment, PPE and other resources for the protection of health and safety
- regularly review the relevance and effectiveness of our health and safety policies, procedures and risk control measures, and implement changes and improvements where necessary
- investigate and evaluate incidents and accidents, establish findings, cause and corrective actions to prevent recurrence.

RMP is committed to maintaining certification to:

- Occupational Health & Safety Management System ISO 45001:2018.

Employee WHS obligations:

- Comply with workplace health and safety laws.
- Comply with RMP health and safety policies and procedures, rules and responsibilities.
- Take reasonable care for the health and safety of themselves and others.
- Report workplace hazards and all injuries, near misses and other health and safety incidents to management without delay.

Raymond W Ellis
Managing Director